RUSSIAN REPULSE AT TA TCHE KIAO

Japanese Defeated Five Divisions There.

Russians Attempted to Burn Provisions at Yinkow, But Were Thwarted.

NO STARTLING NEWS TODAY

Tokio, July 27.—It is officially admitted that Wednesday Gen. Oku, and what is known as the Tekushan army united in an attack on Tachekiao. The Russians were driven from their positions Sunday and Monday and the Japanese victory was complete. The Russians had five divisions engaged in the battle.

TRIED TO BURN STORES.

Tokio, July 27.—A correspondent at Yinkow reports that the Russians, before evacuating that port, attempted to destroy all the stores and food. The citizens aided by a downpour of rain were able to prevent the wanton destruction of food. The correspondent adds that twenty-four steamers with troops and ammunition arrived at Yinkow Tuesday.

EVACUATION ABOUT OVER.

St. Petersburg, July 27.—The port of New Chwang has at last been abandoned by the Russians. The authorities here, however, have no advice covering the details. The evacuation of New Chwang proper is expected to follow shortly.

GIVES NO EXCUSE.

St. Petersburg, July 27.—General Kurapatkin's telegram receding the withdrawal of the southern army from Ta Tche Kiao to Hai Oheng, fails to give details of the continuous rear guard action preceding the retreat, but the war office thinks the losses were several hundred, which would indicate pretty severe fighting.

TURFMAN RYAN

Noted Plunger Arrested at New York.

Alleged to Have Been Implicated in St. Louis Get-Rich-Quick Scheme.

New York, July 27.—John J. Ryan, a race horse owner, whose horses Reliable and Monster won the first and third races at Brighton Beach yesterday, was arrested at the Brighton track in the afternoon on a warrant charging him with larceny by means of an alleged get-rich-quick scheme, of which it is said he was the head. The amount involved is said to be $800,000. The warrant for Ryan's arrest was issued in St. Louis, and the arrest was made by a New York Central office detective, who was accompanied by a St. Louis detective and George Fickerson, assistant to Circuit Attorney Folk of St. Louis. Ryan took his arrest coolly, and induced the detectives to remain with him at the track until the end of the third race, on which he told them he had a few hundreds placed.

"Why didn't those people in St. Louis let me know they wanted me? I would have gone on," he said. At police headquarters he gave his age as 39 years, and his occupation horseracing. He was taken at once before Supreme Court Justice Amend and bail was fixed at $5,000. Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan of this city signed the bond.

TOOK POISON ON DAUGHTER'S GRAVE.

Evansville, Ind., July 27.—While seated on the grave of his daughter in St. Joseph cemetery, Adam Lehr, aged 55, a furniture worker, took rat poison, and is dying. He leaves a large family.

When faith prays it goes out to work for an answer.

ENGLAND UP IN ARMS OVER RUSSIA'S ACTS

Apology and Restitution Will be Demanded.

Premier Balfour Makes Mild but Significant Statement—Other Ships Seized.

MALACCA AT ALGIERS

London, July 27.—The British government is taking energetic action in the case of the sinking of the British steamer Knight Commander by the Vladivostok squadron. All information received by the government tends to establish in the official mind the belief that an outrage has been committed for which no excuse exists in international law. Those aware of the feelings of the ministry said tonight that all the members of the cabinet are in accord regarding the principle of the inviolability of innocent neutral shipping as well as on the principal that a neutral ship can not be destroyed, even if carrying contraband of war. The demands which will be made of the Russian government will include compensation to the owners of the ship and to the owners of the goods on board the Knight Commander, an apology for the action of the Russian cruisers, and an agreement that instructions will be given which will prevent a repetition of such action. British ship owners are up in arms over the dangers which shipping is now running, and are bombarding the government with representations looking to the thorough protection of their interests.

Arthur Cohen, one of the counsel for the British government in the Alabama claims arbitration case, now a judge of the Cinque ports and standing counsel for the University of Cambridge, said:

"It is scandalous, this reckless seizure and destruction of neutral shipping by Russian vessels. The sinking of the Knight Commander was totally illegal."

In the House of Commons today Premier Balfour said:

"With regard to the Knight Commander, I regret to say that information reached here this morning which leaves little doubt that a regrettable incident has occurred. There is no question as to loss of life, but I am afraid there is a question as to breach of international law."

ONE STEAMER RELEASED.

London, July 27.—The Peninsula & Oriental Co. announces that it has received a cablegram stating that the steamer Formosa captured by the Russian volunteer vessels in the Red Sea and taken to Suez has been released and was now proceeding to Yokohama.

MALACCA AT ALGIERS.

Algiers, July 27.—The British steamer Malacca seized by the Russians and afterwards released as a result of representations by the British government, arrived today.

THE HOLZATIA SEIZED.

Suez, July 27.—The German steamer Holzatia arrived today with a Russian prize crew aboard. She was seized in the Red Sea and subsequently released.

WANTS WAR.

St. Petersburg, July 27.—The Svet prints a sensational editorial on the possibility of war with England. It says: "It is difficult to find a cause belli, but war would not pay England. France might join Russia, Germany and America might have to come into the struggle with the result that there would be a sanguinary war for which no nation was prepared."

ABOUT THE KNIGHT.

London, July 27.—A St. Petersburg correspondent wires that the Russian foreign office, in the matter of the sinking of the British Steamer Knight Commander, has come to the conclusion that under exceptional circumstances ships whose cargoes contain contraband may be sunk.

ENGAGEMENT OFF.

London, July 27.—The Daily Express understands that the engagement of Miss Daisy Leiter and Major Cawley has been broken off.

Love is always on the market, but never for sale. A little practice proves more than a lot of polemic. Self conceit throws salt into the wounds of pride.

HIT BY MOTOR CAR AND FATALY HURT

Is How Mrs. Henry Oliver Met Her Death.

Details of Accident to Popular Fulton Woman.—Tennessee Divorce Case.

OTHER NEWS OF KENTUCKY.

Fulton, Ky., July 27.—Details have been received of the accident at Paducah, Cal., which cost Mrs. Henry F. Oliver her life.

She was visiting at the home of Mr. Cabell, who operates an orange grove a little way out of the town of Paducah. About 10 o'clock Wednesday she started to go down to the town by means of a line of railroad which runs by the home of Mr. Cabell, the cars of which are operated by an electric motor. She stepped on the railroad to signal the motorman, but fearing he would not see her, started to cross the track to a better spot. As she did so she dropped a book and stopped to pick it up. While in the act the motor of the car struck her and she was rolled under the front wheels.

One of her legs was crushed by the car, the flesh being mangled so as to expose the hip bone. Her ankle was also broken and crushed. She was carried to the Cabell home and physicians sent for. They found that amputation was necessary. Mrs. Oliver being of a very delicate constitution could not survive the ordeal and died from shock and exhaustion.

HAD PAPERS SERVED.

Fulton, Ky., July 27.—W. W. Stephenson, a well known traveling salesman with headquarters in Dickson, Tenn., was here yesterday and had divorce papers served upon his wife on the Tennessee side. His wife was previous to her marriage Miss Lelia Vaughan, daughter of Henry Vaughan, of Clinton.

They were married some time in January. In his plea for a divorce Mr. Stephenson alleges that his wife received letters from a young man at Clinton, and was not faithful to her marriage vows.

Mrs. Stephenson, accompanied by her father, came to Fulton from Clinton and accepted service of papers on the Tennessee side.

NO MORE WARM MILK MAY BE SOLD HERE

Inspector Warner Says it is a Disease Breeder.

Is Contrary to State Law—Diseased Meat the Public's Chief Danger

WARNER MAKES GOOD START

Dr. C. G. Warner, the new milk and meat inspector, is starting out after the milk men for selling warm milk and says he will stop it.

"The laws of the state prohibit the sale of warm milk," Dr. Warner explained, "and this is not generally observed here. Warm milk is a germ breeder and in all large cities provisions are made for cooling milk, but here it seems some dairymen have been selling milk warm from the cow. This is very detrimental to health and has to be stopped."

Dr. Warner has not yet gotten well into his duties, but is diligently working and stated he would soon have his routes planned and his work well mapped out.

He is after diseased meat principally, and says that "spoiled" meat has never been sold, as no butcher would attempt such a thing. Diseased meat is sometimes sold and this is what should be looked after more carefully, he thinks. As far as Dr. Warner has gone, however, he has found things running nicely.

BUSINESS BETTER

PARK THEATER WELL CROWDED EVERY NIGHT.

The park show is continuing to draw large crowds and next week a moving picture apparatus will arrive, and this feature will be added to the show. Since the show has been run free of charge to the public, the patronage has grown, the street car company realizing nothing but the fares, and the quality of the production is being bettered daily. Mr. Gus Thompson thinks the picture machine will be a drawing card in itself inasmuch as the latest films have been bought and he hopes the public will appreciate the progress and enterprise of the company in throwing open the theater free.

BODY FOUND

I. C. FREIGHT TRAIN STOPPED BY GHAUSTLY DISCOVERY.

South bound freight train No. 151 this afternoon about a mile south of Central City was stopped on account of the discovery of the mangled remains of a white man. The body was so cut up it could not be told who he was or about what his age was. It had not been identified at press time.

CAN'T FIND ANYTHING.

Louisville, July 27.—Mrs. L. D. H. Cowling has filed a petition asking that Sam Leonard of Eddyville, be compelled to come into court and render an account of his property. She obtained judgment against Leonard for $605.04, balance due on the expenses of his daughter, Sarah's trip to Europe. This has been returned from Lyon county marked "no property found."

ARRESTED ON BENCH WARRANT

Lena Fowler, colored, has been arrested by Officers Terrell and McCune on a bench warrant issued from circuit court charging malicious cutting. The woman was recognized to appear but failed to do so and the warrant resulted. She will be locked up until tried.

HURT KNUCKLES ON CAR.

Mr. W. A. Roberts a barber, of Fifth and Norton streets, painfully cut several of the knuckles of his right hand, on a nut on the guard rail of a Third street car, while boarding the car this morning at Third and Broadway.

THE PRESIDENT WAS NOTIFIED TODAY

Speaker Cannon Delivered Speech at Sagamore Hill.

President Roosevelt Gracefully Accepts Republican Nomination for President—Luncheon Served.

LIMITED NUMBER OF GUESTS.

Oyster Bay, L. I., July 26.—The formal notification of President Roosevelt of his nomination took place here today. The exercises incident to the notification were most simple. They consisted merely of the notification speech by Chairman Cannon of the notification committee and the response by the president, and there were not more than 125 guests including the committee present.

The notification committee, comprised of a representation from each state and territory arrived at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning on a special train on the Long Island railroad. Carriages waiting were for the members of the committee at the station-house and driven at once to Sagamore Hill. The exercises began promptly at 12:30 o'clock. After the formal exercises the president and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained the guests at luncheon on the veranda.

A special train leaving here at 3:30 in the afternoon carried the committee and the guests back to New York. Among those present from this state were Governor Odell, Senator Platt, Elihu Root, and National Committeeman Wm. L. Ward. Senator Depew was a member of the notification committee but he is absent in Europe.

President Roosevelt said among other things:

I am deeply sensible of the high honor conferred upon me by the representatives of the Republican party assembled in convention, and I accept the nomination for the presidency with the solemn realization of the obligations I assume.

Three years ago I became president because of the death of my lamented predecessor. I then stated it was my purpose to carry out his principles and policies for the honor and interests of the country. To the best of my ability I have kept the promise thus made. If next November my countrymen confirm at the polls the action of the convention you represent, I shall under Providence, continue to work with an eye single to the welfare of all our people.

A party is of worth only in so far as it promotes the national interest and every official, high or low, can serve his party best by rendering to the people the best service of which he is capable. Effective government comes only as the result of the loyal co-operation of many different persons. In the years that have gone by, we have made the dead square with the word and if we are continued in power we shall unwaveringly follow out the great lines of public policy which the Republican party has already laid down; a public policy to which we are giving, and shall give, a united, and therefore an efficient support.

In all of this we are more fortunate than our opponents, who now appeal for confidence on the ground, which some express and some seek to have confidentially understood, that if triumphant they may be trusted to prove false to every principle which in the last eight years they have laid down as vital, and to leave undisturbed those very acts of the administration because of which they ask that the administration itself be driven from power.

There is nothing experimental about the government we ask the people to continue in power, for our performance in the past, our proved governmental efficiency, is a guarantee as to our promises for the future.

In dealing with the great organizations known as trusts, we do not have to explain why the laws were not enforced, but to point out that they are.

DR. ROBERTSON'S OFFER.

Dr. Jeff Robertson, who played short stop for the doctors' team Monday, has never fully explained how he managed to cleanly field the ground ball he stopped, and which caused so much talk among his friends and acquaintances.

Dr. Robertson had two chances during the game, one a running chance and the other a ball which was knocked directly into his hands. Dr. Robertson stooped down and much to the surprise of every one held the ball and fielded it to first base. The thing was done so quickly that even the doctor himself did not know he had the ball. It was by far the best play made that day, and Dr. Robertson boasts of an offer telegraphed by Manager John Ray, of the Indians, from Cairo when the play was telegraphed to the Indians at Cairo to sign him in the league team.

MANY AMATEUR CLUBS.

There is no doubt that Paducah is the best baseball town in the league as is borne out in the number of amateur teams in the city, and the quality of ball they put up.

There are no less than eighteen teams composed of young men and as to juvenile teams they can't be counted. A few of the grown up teams are Redmon Unions, L. A. L., I. C. Independents, Flannigan's, I. C. Woodworkers, I. C. Machinists, Sterlings, White Stars, Third Streets, Mechanicsburgs, Leather Workers and numerous others.

Games are played on all city lots large enough to afford space for the diamond, and in the commons skirting the edge of the city. At the Starr farm, on the Mayfield road a very good diamond is maintained, and there is also a ball field in Rowlandtown and on North Eighth street. The league park is used every Sunday morning and games are played both morning and afternoon by the shop men after work hours. There is "everything doing" in baseball in Paducah.

STILL A MOOTED QUESTION.

The doctors and lawyers have not yet gotten through talking about their game played Monday, and are still fighting among themselves as to which of the many pitchers and catchers made the best showing. Many of the players played all over the diamond, and some times the teams had as many as ten men on the field. The league scorer was unable to keep a correct score, but it is safe to say that not but one or two earned runs were made, and as to hits, everything was a hit except balls going directly to the fielders.

NOTES.

Vincennes has signed Pitcher Clayton, of Linton, who joined the Vincennes team at Hopkinsville.

First Baseman Hoepple, who was released several weeks ago by Hopkinsville has been signed by Clarksville to hold down the initial sack during the illness of Reiney.

Harry Nickens, the lanky whirlwind who was in the K. I. T. last season, got his start in this way, according to the Nashville Banner:

"Harry Nickens, the boy from Billy Goat Hill may pitch today. It is related of Harry that the reason he broke into the baseball world was because a baseball player happened to see him throwing rocks on Billy Goat Hill one day. The wonderful speed and strength of the boy's arm attracted the aforesaid ball player, and he asked Nickens if he didn't want to play some ball. Nick said he did, and he was taken to Columbia with a team. He's throwing nine inch balls now instead of bricks, however, and has transferred his operations from Goat Hill to level diamonds. By the way, many a crack ball player has come from the Goat Hill of old North Nashville."

Umpire Willie Popp has been discharged as a Kitty league umpire.

RED VIOLET LEADS IN THE FIELDING

Comes Close to the Top of the List.

Some of the Paducah Players Make a Fine Showing.

THE FIGURES GIVEN

The fielding averages for K. I. T. players have been made public. Only two have .1000 per cent. Powers, of Clarksville, who has not been playing in the league, and Beddinger, of Vincennes, who has been playing for some time, having had 106 put outs, one assist and no errors.

Red Violet, of Paducah, comes third and some of those having the highest averages being:

	P	O	A	E	P	R	C	T
Paducah,
Violet,	473	12	10					.979
Cairo,
Hughes,	575	24	14					.977
Rutledge,	287	41	8					.976
Hopkinsville,
Doutelle,	2	44	46					.976

The Paducah players fielding averages are as follows:

	P	O	A	E	P	R	C	T
Sherman,	56	37	5					.949
Brabie,	10	51	4					.938
Potts,	87	144	71					.933
Land,	284	55	24					.933
Harley,	87	17	8					.928
Brady,	11	23	3					.916
Barlow,	99	16	11					.912
McGill,	14	26	2					.905
Henderson-Paducah,
McKenna,	152	27	19					.904
Girard,	79	86	17					.906
Gilligan,	66	127	29					.878
Freeman,	13	45	6					.797

The averages were published in the Cairo Bulletin, but it is not stated to what date they are figured. It is known that Powers' average to date is not .1000 because he made an error the last time Clarksville was in Paducah.

Beddinger credited to Vincennes is not known here, and his name has never appeared in any of Vincennes' lineups.

NEW IMPROVEMENTS ARE VERY COSTLY

Illinois Central Spending Much Money.

Both the Louisville District and the City of Paducah Getting a Big Slice.

WHAT IS BEING DONE

Paducah and the Paducah district of the Illinois Central, are getting their share of improvements and the aggregate cost of the improvements will amount high into the thousands.

The local shops are receiving $24,000 worth of new machines. This in itself is a big improvement and will greatly increase the facilities of the shops, which are now second to the great Chicago-Burnside shops.

The company is also putting in a new transfer table with electrical appliances for motive power, and will soon build a tank repairing shop.

A new office for the master mechanic will be built and the present quarters assigned to the tin department for a tin shop.

The old freight house is being fitted out for the dispatcher and yard master's offices and a new yard office to be known as the Fulton district office, will be built in the south yards. One matter which is now under consideration is the erection of a shed at the passenger depot, this request being made by the municipal boards. Nothing definite has been decided about this.

As to the Paducah district, improvements meaning the expenditure of a small fortune are nearing completion. The block system is being installed between Central City and Paducah; eight extensions of side tracks and four new sidings are being built. The road is also excavating for a new steel bridge over Tennessee river and this alone is an improvement not absolutely necessary at present, but the company forsook the future necessity and started work immediately. The bridge will cut off something like fifteen minutes from the schedule run, changing the route of the road slightly.

The N. C. & St. L. road is also improving here, the long trestle running off South Twelfth street, being filled in. This means the expenditure of several thousand dollars in labor and material, and speaks much for the progress of the road.

Kentucky and Tennessee Board Wins Victory.

Mr. Claude Snyder, of Memphis Will be Secretary of the Board.

The action of the executive committee of the Kentucky and Tennessee Board of Fire Underwriters in electing on July 5, Claude Snyder, of Memphis to succeed to the place of secretary left vacant by the death of Col. William C. Nelson, will be ratified.

The matter was referred back to the executive committee at a joint conference at Louisville between a subcommittee of the governing board of the Western Union of Fire Insurance companies and four members of the executive committee of the Kentucky and Tennessee board.

A. G. Dugan, of Chicago, is chairman and the other members of the subcommittee of the governing board are Thomas E. Gallagher, of Cincinnati, and F. M. Michael, of Atlanta, Charleston B. Rogers, president; J. L. Smith, of Louisville; J. M. Picton, of Nashville; and William Sowards, of Cincinnati, represented the Kentucky and Tennessee board. Mr. Snyder was also at the hotel, waiting to learn the outcome but did not attend the meeting.

The conference was lengthy, and the whole history of the matter was gone over in detail. After some time Mr. Rogers announced that the subcommittee had decided to refer the choice of a secretary back to the executive committee to be acted upon at its next regular meeting a week from yesterday. This amounts to a ratification of the election of Mr. Snyder and is a triumph for the Kentucky and Tennessee board.

A great deal of interest has been felt in Paducah insurance circles by the outcome and Mr. Snyder's victory was not unexpected. There was never any objection to him, but only to the method of selecting him.

HIT HARD BLOW

HORSE REVERSES THINGS AND COLLIDES WITH STREET CAR.

Motorman J. E. Lawless, of the depot run, reports a very unusual occurrence, just the reverse of what generally happens when a runaway horse and street car mix, the horse this time running into the car instead of the car striking the horse.

Last night about 8 o'clock Motorman Lawless was running car No. 103 towards the depot and was slowing down for the Seventh and Clark street switch, when he saw a horse running wildly towards his car. He saw the horse was beyond the control of the driver and stopped his car still. The horse continued and struck the front step of the car.

The animal veered around in time to prevent striking with much force, but Motorman Lawless was forced to seek the interior of his car, thinking the horse was going to beard it. The horse continued its mad run.

CLEARED $325.

The ball game for charity between the doctors and lawyers netted $325. The total receipts were about $400, but there were expenses such as for uniforms, etc., which had to be paid, leaving the above amount clear.

Storekeeper A. J. Hollenbeck, of the local Illinois Central, has returned from Louisville where he had been on business.

LUCAS OF PADUCAH, IS NOT A QUITTER

He Will Fight Auditor Coulter to a Finish.

The Henderson Case Will Apply Only to Henderson County.

TRIAL FOR SATURDAY

Attorney Frank Lucas, of this city, who is now being restrained from acting as auditor's agent for the state at large in the matter of filing suits in Henderson county, stated this morning that he would not accept the decision of the court in Henderson county in this case as a criterion, and even if the court refused to dissolve the injunction, he would continue to act as auditor's agent unless he was prevented by injunction in other counties, as the Henderson decision will apply only in Henderson county.

"I will not accept this as a test case, but will continue to act in my official capacity of auditor's agent," Mr. Lucas declared this morning. "I was appointed for four years, and intend to hold that long if I can. I have been restrained temporarily in Henderson county by injunction brought by Edward Walker from filing suits in that county as auditor's agent, but will go up Saturday and fight the case. I think I will be able to prevail upon the court to dissolve the injunction, but if I fail, will continue to file suits when I have them in other counties."

Auditor Hager is trying to oust former Auditor Coulter's agents, who were appointed for four years, and who have two years more to serve.

Attorney James Campbell, Jr., who was appointed here to succeed Mr. Lucas, states he will go to Henderson to appear in the Walker injunction case.

A BAD GUTTER

RESIDENTS OF JACKSON STREET REGISTER A KICK.

Residents in the vicinity of Fourth and Jackson streets are complaining of the condition of a gutter reeking in filth and germ breeding slime, which has been permitted to go untouched by the city all the spring and summer.

The gutter is located on the north side of Jackson street running from Fourth to Second street, the water stands in it and stagnates. The drainage is naturally bad and to make matters worse the culverts seem to be stopped up and all the refuse water from residences and from a veterinary stable run into it and add to the very bad sanitary condition.

Councilman Young Taylor was shown the gutter and stated he would "say something about it" at the next meeting of the council, but the residents don't want to wait and demand that something in the way of relief be immediately done.

CROP REPORT

GENERALLY GOOD CONDITIONS ARE REPORTED IN KENTUCKY.

The following is the official statement of the condition of crops for last week:

The first of the week was quite warm, with local showers covering the greater portion of the state; the latter part was cool and generally dry. Wheat threshing was delayed by the rain, but progressed well the last of the week. The crop is better in yield and quality than was expected.

Tobacco is doing fairly well. The early fields in the western portion of the state are especially good, but the latter setting is not so promising. In the burley districts of the Bluegrass and north central counties the crop is very uneven and the stand frequently poor.

Corn has made good progress and looks very promising.

The harvesting of oats is nearly completed, and a fairly good crop has been secured.

Irish potatoes and garden vegetables are very good.

Apples and peaches have deteriorated and will give short yields.

In some locations pastures are needing rain badly, but over the greater part of the state they are quite good. Farm work is well up.

OFFICIALS MEET

Supt. Egan Holds a Staff Meeting in Louisville.

Will Prepare for the Regular Fall Increase of Business.

General Agent John Donovan of the I. C., accompanied by Trainmaster Henry Scheuing and Chief Dispatcher J. T. Cheek and wife, went to Louisville this morning, where the three officials will attend the staff meeting of Superintendent A. H. Egan in Louisville.

Mr. Egan holds his staff meetings about once every month, and discusses thoroughly every matter pertaining to the service on the Louisville division. The fall rush will shortly set in and Superintendent Egan desires that everything be in readiness, so the business may be well handled.

There will be other matters to act on besides the division affairs, a local ticket agent having to be selected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ticket Agent G. Littell. Mr. Littell states in his resignation that the work is too heavy for one man. He is the third man to resign on this account, and it is probable something will be done.

BIG ORCHESTRA

LOCAL MUSICIANS WANT PROF. HARRY GILBERT TO DIRECT ONE.

Since the publications of Prof. Harry Gilbert's return to the city from his musical studies in Berlin, Germany, talk of organizing a big orchestra to be under Prof. Gilbert's direction, has started and is being taken up by local musicians who are heartily in favor of the move.

Prof. Gilbert has directed several orchestras here. He has just completed a thorough course in directing, and is fully competent to take any orchestra and successfully conduct it. There are enough musicians in Paducah to form a big orchestra and this is what they will try to do.

When Prof. Gilbert gets here, and if he can spare enough time from his regular work in playing and teaching, he will be prevailed upon to conduct the orchestra, which will be organized and maintained simply for the pleasure it affords the members.

Attorney James Ray, of Frankfort, Ky., was in the city today en route from Bardwell to the capital.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Congress.

Hon. J. C. Speight, of Graves County.

DAILY THOUGHT.

Not in word alone, but in deed, do we love one another.

THE WEATHER.

Showers tonight and probably Thursday.

IF POSSIBLE, AVOID A LAWSUIT.

There have been innumerable kicks against the seven blocks of brick street just completed ever since the work began nearly a year ago, but they did no good. The work is done at last, however, and if it has to be paid for, it might as well be paid for without any litigation.

Going to law is costly, and besides, the city always loses. The Broadway brick street suit was lost although the street has never yet been received, and the city had to pay every dollar of the contract price, although it was a botch job, and not a particle of the repairs specified in the contract to be kept up for five years after completion, has ever been made.

In the present contract the city had its engineer, inspector and others, who stood by and watched the work, and if the city didn't get a good job, while it should not have to pay for it, it doubtless will have it to do, and delaying it by lawsuits will only make it more expensive to the taxpayers. If the work is not substantial and satisfactory, the taxpayers have only the city officials to thank for it. These officials were elected by a majority of voters, and if they prove a costly investment to the taxpayers, it will only be another case of paying the fiddler.

If the work is not satisfactory, and the city is advised it will not have it to pay for, it should refuse to pay the balance. If the city is advised that it has to pay for it good or bad, on the other hand, as it had to pay for Broadway, it should do so without a lawsuit, for the people do not care to be humiliated by adding another to the long list of lawsuits already lost by the city.

THE JUDGE'S REASON.

The Evansville Journal says:
"It didn't take long for Judge Parker to show that at the best he has a very incomplete conception of public questions. In his very first public utterance he shows that either he has not informed himself or that he is incapable of clear thinking, and that in any event he is not qualified for the office to which he aspires. Had he the mind necessary to meet the duties that come to the executive of this great nation, he would see very clearly that the gold standard is not 'fixed and irrevocable,' for the same power that adopted the gold standard could very readily adopt the silver standard if so inclined, and that power is congress."

Perhaps, however, the Journal-News does the worthy judge an injustice. He doubtless knows the gold standard is "fixed and irrevocable" because it is a Republican principle and the Republicans are in power to stay. It should not require a very discriminating mind—even Democratic mind—to understand this. As long as the Republicans stay, the gold standard stays—this means it stays always, and Judge Parker knows enough to realize it. Hence his "the gold standard is fixed and irrevocable."

A Georgetown man who committed suicide must have thought the world too good to live in. He left a note of apology to the 'good people of the United World.'

Senator Davis, Democratic nominee for vice president, may be old and not much of a speaker, but his money talks.

There is some hope for us, after all.
A telegraph messenger boy in Paducah acquired a gait sufficient to enable him to run into something.

THE SUN'S FREE
TRIPS TO THE FAIRA Great Amount of Interest Aroused by the Liberal Offer.And Many Young People in City and County are at Work.

READ THE PARTICULARS

The Sun's offer to send anyone to the World's fair for a little subscription has created a tremendous amount of interest both in the city and county and many young folks—and old ones as well—are working for one of the prizes.

The Sun's offer is a most liberal one and offers every one who desires to go to the fair an opportunity to go for very little expense.

The proposition is this: Anyone sending in fifty new paid in advance subscribers for one month, or ten for six months, or five for one year will be given free transportation to St.
Louis and return and five admissions to the fair. Any subscriber in the county sending in eleven new paid in advance subscribers will be given the same.

Call at the Sun office and learn something that will be of great assistance to you in soliciting. If you want to go to the fair this is your chance.

SKIPPED BOND

Negro Wanted in Iuka, Miss., Caught Here.His Bondsman Came Here and Effected His Arrest.

Sam Dillworth, colored, wanted in Iuka, Miss., for skipping his bond, was arrested this morning at Tenth and Jones streets about 9:30 o'clock by Officers Hessian and Hurley and will be taken back to Mississippi, for trial, by E. E. Massie, his bondsman, who came here after him.

Dillworth was arrested in Iuka for alleged forgery, and being of good reputation was bonded out by Massie, who thought he would remain in Iuka for trial. Dillworth skipped, however, and Massie tracked him to Paducah where he sent a description and later came himself, arriving this morning. A description was given the police last night and this morning they landed their man.

Massie will take Dillworth back tonight. Police Judge Cross having assigned him over in court this morning.

NO CHANCE

BEN BOYDS' CLUB ROBBED OF TWO GAMES.

A letter received from the manager of Ben Boyd's colored baseball club, now down south, received this morning by a colored man here, says that at Macon, Ga., no visiting ball club has a chance to win from the Macon team. The Paducah players were told this in both Nashville and Chattanooga, Ga., but didn't believe it. They won both the game Monday and yesterday, but the colored people had knives and pistols and clubs, the letter states, and the Paducah club couldn't have taken it with a regiment of men.
There were 2000 people at the game
Monday, many of them being white people. The letter states that some of the toughs made the colored players take the game, and even gave them weapons to bluff the umpire and players. The Macon team will be here August 8th, and Ben Boyd and his men can then get even.

NEGRO BOYS

ARRESTED FOR SNATCHING MR.
FRANK DAVIS' WATCH.

E King, Luther and Melvin Thomas, Genia Scott, Noah Smith and John Steward, colored boys, are under arrest charged with snatching Mr.
Frank Davis' watch Saturday night.

The boys admitted that they snatched the watch and sold it to Mr. Joe Petter, the jeweler, but Mr. Petter claims they did not. The boys were not arraigned before the court this morning but will be held pending a thorough examination. The watch was valuable and the officers will attempt to recover it.

They are inclined to think that the prisoners are trying to deceive them about what disposition they made of it, and are hopeful of locating it by tomorrow.

CRUSHED IN SAFE

PAINFUL INJURY TO DEPUTY SHERIFF LYON.

Deputy Sheriff H. F. Lyon broke the first finger of his right hand yesterday afternoon late while closing the door to the big safe in the sheriff's office.

Deputy Lyon was in a hurry to leave, and gave the door a violent tug. It closed too soon for the deputy sheriff, who caught his finger as the door swung in place. The first joint was crushed, the bone being badly injured. It is thought however, that the member will not have to be amputated.

THE BOARD OF WORKS
TO FOLLOW THE LAWWill Not Open 4th Street Until After Inspection.Tomorrow Protests Will be Heard—Dispute over Who Passes Finally on the Work.

RED TAPE ENDS TOMORROW.

The mayor and board of public works met this morning, with Contractor E. C. Terrell and inspected Fourth street from Jefferson to Kentucky avenue, but the street will not be open before tomorrow.

Mayor Yeiser said that the board decided to follow the provisions of the law and advertise to the property owners for inspection. The property owners are given one day to look the street over and to enter any objections they might have to make, and in case no objections are lodged, the street will be thrown open.

The inspection will be made tomorrow, and Mayor Yeiser says the street will undoubtedly then be thrown open.
There have been some few complaints lodged against the work, but not by property owners.

Mr. Terrell stated of the work, that if any fault is found, it can not be attributed to him, as he did everything he was instructed to, and in event any objections are lodged they will go against the city engineer and the inspectors the city employed to look after the work, and see that it was done right.

The street car company as well as the public in general, is anxious to get the street open.

It is understood that there is a dispute between Contractor Terrell and city as to who finally passes on the work, the general council or the board of public works. When the contract was let the board of works had not been established, and Contractor Terrell claims the general council, which let the contract, should also pass on its execution.

The board of public works, on the other hand, claims that when it was created, all such work under the law passed into its hands. It has no particular desire, it is understood, to pass on the Terrell contract, but simply wants to discharge its duty under the law if this is its duty. The question will probably come up later.

The seven blocks paved have not been finally received by the city, the receiving heretofore done, simply being in order that the blocks could be opened to the public as soon as each was completed.

POLICE COURT

ONLY A FEW CASES ON THE DOCKET TODAY.

Special Police Judge D. A. Cross held a brief session of police court this morning.

Boyd Manley, colored, who beat up a female acquaintance, she alleged was recognized in the sum of $300 for his future good behavior.

S. C. Sunford, white, was fined $10 and costs for a breach of the peace.

Ed Hansen and Jack Jackson were granted continuance in a breach of ordinance case, while Tony and John Isenman were dismissed of a similar charge.

Since the doctor-lawyer game Monday several injuries have been discovered. Attorney W. V. Eaton discovered yesterday that the third finger on the left hand was broken at the first joint, and is now nursing it, while his partner, Judge E. B. Drake is suffering from a twisted leg, injured in making a home run.

THE LITTLE GUNNER

Boom!

The colonel commanding yawned, turned over in bed and tried to go to sleep. Confound that morning gun! It was all right for it to wake up those who were expected to wake up, but what a nuisance for those who could sleep as long as they wished.

The colonel opened his eyes.

Now, the morning gun is fired at sunrise, and at sunrise any fool knows there is daylight. But to the colonel everything was as black as when he put out his light the night before. Had he gone blind? He sprang up in terror. Not entirely blind, for he could distinguish the window and clearly saw a bright star in the sky. Jumping out of bed, he struck a match and looked at his watch.

It was three minutes after 3.

"By the eternal jingo," he muttered, "I'll break every officer at this post if necessary to find who is responsible for this! The morning gun at 3 o'clock! Who ever heard of such a thing?"

The colonel went to the window and threw up the sash. There were lights in some of the quarters, while others were still dark. The officer of the day was hurrying across the parade. The colonel called to him, asked him what it all meant and received the reply that he was going to find out. The colonel shut the sash with a bang and went back to bed, but not to sleep. He occupied his time laying plans to discover the miscreant and musing on the probable punishment he would receive at the hands of a court martial.

"Papa," said his daughter Ethel as she poured out his coffee at breakfast, "did you hear 'gun fire' at 3 o'clock this morning?"

"Did I hear it? Rather ask me if I'll have any mercy on the man who fired it. Lieutenant Ellison has had charge of the room where the automatic apparatus used in firing the gun is located. I shall hold him responsible."

"But, papa," remonstrated the girl, who had been trying to get her father's consent to her marrying the same Ellison without success. "Mr. Ellison leaves the 'gun fire' to the sergeant."

There was a tap at the door.

"Come in," called the colonel, and who should enter but Ellison himself. The colonel glared at him.

"Colonel," said the young officer, "I came to report to you that since the gun was fired at 3 o'clock this morning I have been up investigating the matter and am happy to report that I have discovered the culprit."

"Well, sir, who is he?"

"The smallest gunner at the post."

"His name?"

"Twit."

Miss Ethel cast a surprised glance at the lieutenant, which was returned by a knowing glance from the officer.

"Twit? Twit?" mused the colonel. "I don't remember the name. How did he get into the firing room?"

"That, sir, I would rather say nothing about."

"You shall say something about it if I'm in command here," replied the colonel angrily.

"Pardon me, colonel. I would have to implicate one near and dear to you."

"Dear to me! What do you mean?"

"Not only dear to you, but to me."

The colonel was mute from surprise. Ethel hung her head.

"Do you mean, sir, to implicate my daughter? Is this revenge for—your refusal?" thundered the colonel, half rising.

"No, colonel. Miss Ethel is really responsible, though I am happy to say, indirectly, and no criminality attaches to her act. She introduced the gunner into the room."

"She? What gunner?"

"Twit."

Miss Ethel put her handkerchief to her mouth and turned away.

"What do you mean to imply, sir? That my daughter is in league with an enlisted man of my command?"

"I didn't say he was an enlisted man. He is too short to come within the limits. He's only three inches 'from his beak to his toes.'"

"What?"

"Three inches."

The blood rushed to the colonel's cheek, the fire to his eye. "Mr. Ellison, I'd have you know, sir, that foolery in the line of duty is worse than—it's worse than mutiny, sir."

"I'm not fooling, colonel. I'm stating an exact truth. The gunner who fired the gun this morning is a yellow boy."

"A mulatto?"

"No, colonel; a beautiful canary color."

"Oh, papa," cried Ethel, turning, "you're so stupid!"

The colonel looked from the officer to the girl like an enraged bull from one persecuting matador to another.

"Twit is my bird, papa. Don't you see?"

"Colonel," said Ellison, "when Miss Ethel went away two weeks ago she placed her canary in charge of the sergeant's wife. Since Miss Ethel only returned last evening she has not yet received back her pet. The bird has been kept in the firing room and last night, the cage having been inadvertently left open, got out and after flying about hopped on to the electric key that fires the gun."

The colonel's face subsided from anger to soberness, from soberness to good nature; then a smile broke over his face. Meanwhile his daughter had put her arms about him.

"You young rascal!" he exclaimed to Ellison.

That was the beginning of the colonel's giving way as to the betrothal, which was announced shortly after. Ellison told the story, it was repeated all over the garrison, and on the morning of the wedding there was a second "gun fire" at 3 o'clock.

NOVEL INJUNCTION

Mayor of Covington, Tenn., Enjoined From Enforcing Law.A Confectioner Files the Bill and Will Make Strenuous Fight.

Memphis, Tenn., July 27.—Upon an injunction bill filed in the chancery court of Tipton county, Judge John P. Young of this city, yesterday afternoon granted a fiat of injunction restraining the Mayor of Covington, Tenn., from enforcing a Sunday closing ordinance recently passed by the town council. The fiat was issued by Judge Young on a presentation of the bill to him by attorneys for T. R. Elcan, a dealer in soda water and ice cream at Covington. Elcan kept his place open on Sunday, July 17, in spite of the fact that the ordinance made it a misdemeanor for him to do so, and when arraigned before Mayor Sherrod was fined $10. Elcan immediately took an appeal and executed an appearance bond. The injunction bill was prepared immediately and brought to this city. The bill alleges that the city council of Covington had no authority under the provisions of its charter to prohibit the selling of ice cream and soda water on Sunday by passing an ordinance for that purpose.

NO UNIFORMS

WILL BE REQUIRED FOR RURAL CARRIERS.

Washington, July 27.—An emphatic denial is given by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow to the report that the department is about to issue an order requiring carriers in the rural free delivery service to purchase and wear uniforms. Mr. Bristow believes that the carriers should be uniformed, and states that ultimately they will be required to don a distinctive style of dress, but for the present, at least, no action in the direction is contemplated.

Petitions for rural routes continue to pour in, as formerly, each section wanting a liberal share of the more than 9000 routes that will be established during the current fiscal year.

MALARIA

IMPURE AIR Malaria is not confined exclusively to the swamps and marshy regions of the country, but wherever there is bad air this insidious foe to health is found. Poisonous vapors and gases from sewers, and the musty air of damp cellars are laden with the germs of this miserable disease, which are breathed into the lungs and taken up by every part of the body. Then you begin to feel out of sorts without ever suspecting the cause. No energy or appetite, dull headaches, sleepy and tired and completely fagged-out from the slightest exertion, are some of the deplorable effects of this enfolding malady. As the disease progresses and the blood becomes more deeply poisoned, boils and abscesses and dark or yellow spots appear upon the skin. When the poison is left to ferment and the microbes in the blood, liver and kidney troubles and other serious complications often arise. As Malaria begins and develops in the blood, the treatment to be effective must begin there too. S. S. S. destroys the germs and poisons and purifies the polluted blood. S. S. S. is a guaranteed purely vegetable remedy. Write us if you want medical advice or any special information. This will cost you nothing.

Amory, Miss., January 28, 1903. During 1900 I was running a farm on the Mississippi River and became so impregnated with Malaria that for a year afterwards I was a physical wreck. I took a number of medicines recommended as blood purifiers, chill cures and Malaria cures, but nothing did me any good until I began to use S. S. S., which I did about a year ago. The result was that after taking three bottles of the large size I was as well and strong as I ever was and have never had a chill since. I expect to take S. S. S. every year as a preventive, and would advise everybody else to follow my example.

The Blazed Trail

By STEWART EDWARD WHITE

Copyright, 1902, by Stewart Edward White

Behind the rear Big Junko poled his bateau backward and forward exploding dynamite. Many of the bottom tiers of logs in the railroads had been frozen down, and Big Junko had to loosen them from the bed of the stream. He was a big man, this, as his nickname indicated, built of many awkwardnesses. His cheek bones were high, his nose flat, his lips thick and slabby. He sported a wide, ferocious straggling mustache and long eyebrows, under which gleamed little fierce eyes. His forehead sloped back like a beast's, but was always hidden by a disreputable felt hat. Big Junko did not know much and had the passions of a wild animal, but he was a reckless river man and devoted to Thorpe. Just now he exploded dynamite.

The sticks of powder were piled amidships. Big Junko crouched over them, inserting the fuses and caps, closing the openings with soap, finally lighting them and dropping them into the water alongside, where they immediately sank. Then a few strokes of a short paddle took him barely out of danger. He huddled down in his craft, waiting. One, two, three seconds passed. Then a hollow boom shook the stream. A cloud of water sprang up, strangely beautiful. After a moment the great brown logs rose suddenly to the surface from below, one after the other, like leviathans of the deep.

Thorpe and Tim Shearer nearly always slept in a dog tent at the rear, though occasionally they passed the night at Dam Two, where Bryan Moloney and his crew were already engaged in sluicing the logs through the shoot.

The affair was simple enough. Long booms arranged in the form of an open V guided the drive to the sluice gate, through which a smooth apron of water rushed to turmoil in an eddying pool below. Two men tramped steadily backward and forward on the booms, urging the logs forward by means of long pike poles to where the suction could seize them. Below the dam the push of the sluice water forced them several miles down stream, where the rest of Bryan Moloney's crew took them in charge.

Thus through the wide gate nearly three-quarters of a million feet an hour could be run, and at length the last of the logs drifted into the wide dam pool. The rear had arrived at Dam Two, and Thorpe congratulated himself that one stage of his journey had been completed.

CHAPTER XXVII.

THE rear had been tenting at the dam for two days and was about ready to break camp when Jimmy Powers swung across the trail to tell them of the big jam.

Ten miles along the river bed the stream dropped over a little half falls into a narrow, rocky gorge. It was always an anxious spot for river drivers. The plunging of the logs head-on over the fall had so gouged out the soft rock below that an eddy of great power had formed in the basin. Here, in spite of all efforts, the jam had formed. The bed was completely filled, far above the level of the falls, by a tangle that defied the jam crew's best efforts.

The rear at once took the trail down the river. Thorpe and Shearer and Scotty Parsons looked over the ground.

Without delay the entire crew was set to work. Nearly a hundred men can pick a great many logs in the course of a day. Several times the jam started, but always "plugged" before the motion had become irresistible.

"We'll have to shoot," Shearer reluctantly decided.

The men were withdrawn. Scotty Parsons cut a sapling twelve feet long and trimmed it. Big Junko thawed his dynamite at a little fire, opening the ends of the packages in order that the steam generated might escape. When the powder was warm, Scotty bound twenty of the cartridges around the end of the sapling, adjusted a fuse in one of them and souped the opening to exclude water. Then Big Junko thrust the long javelin down into the depths of the jam, leaving a thin stream of smoke behind him as he turned away, zigzagging awkwardly over the jam, the long, ridiculous tails of his brown cutaway coat flopping behind him as he leaped. A scant moment later the hoarse dynamite shouted.

Great chunks of timber shot to an inconceivable height. Entire logs lifted bodily into the air with the motion of a fish jumping. A fountain of water gleamed against the sun and showered down in fine rain. The jam shrugged and settled. That was all. The "shot" had failed.

The men ran forward, examining curiously the great hole in the log formation.

"We'll have to flood her," said Thorpe. So all the gates of the dam were raised, and the torrent tried its hand. It had no effect. Evidently the affair was not one of violence, but of patience. The crew went doggedly to work.

Day after day the clank, clank, clink of the peaveys sounded with the regularity of machinery. It was cruel, hard work. A man who has lifted his utmost strength into a peavey knows that. Any but the Fighting Forty would have grumbled.

Collins, the bookkeeper, came up to view the tangle. Later a photographer from Marquette took some views, and by the end of the week a number of curiosity seekers were driving over every day to see the big jam. A certain Chicago journalist in search of balsam Threw his battered old felt hat defiantly, health of lungs even sent to his paper a little item. This unexpectedly brought Wallace Carpenter to the spot.

The place was an amphitheater for such as chose to be spectators. They could stand or sit on the summit of the gorge cliffs, overlooking the river, the fall and the jam.

At last Shearer became angry.

"We've been monkeying long enough," said he. "Next time we'll leave a center that will go out. We'll shut the dams down tight and dry pick out two wings that'll start her."

The dams were first run at full speed and then shut down. Hardly a drop of water flowed in the bed of the stream. The crews set laboriously to work to pull and roll the logs out in such flat fashion that a head of water should send them out.

This was even harder work than the other, for they had not the floating power of water to help them in the lifting. As usual, part of the men worked below, part above.

Jimmy Powers, curly haired, laughing faced, was irrepressible. He badgered the others until they threw bark at him and menaced him with their peaveys. Always he had at his tongue's end the proper quip for the occasion, so that in the long run the work was lightened by him. When the men stopped to think at all they thought of Jimmy Powers with very kindly hearts, for it was known that he had had more trouble than most and that colic was not made too small for him to divide with a needy comrade.

Thorpe approved thoroughly of Jimmy Powers. He thought him a good influence. He told Wallace so, standing among the spectators on the cliff top.

"He is all right," said Thorpe. "I wish I had more like him. The others are good boys too."

Five men were at the moment tugging futilely at a reluctant timber. They were attempting to roll one end of it over the side of another projecting log, but were continually foiled, because the other end was jammed fast. Each bent his knees, inserting his shoulders under the projecting peavey stock, to straighten in a mighty effort.

"A Change In the Wind"

(Original.)

"What's all this talk about George Spicer? They say he's inherited a fortune and is going to marry Alice Treat after all."

"I'll tell you the story, though I don't expect you to believe it. I'll admit that if I had seen it in fiction I would have considered the author a fool to write such an improbable yarn. George was poor as a church mouse. He had been more or less of a walf, having lost his parents when he was too young to remember them. He hardly knew who had taken care of him, except an aunt who had educated him. At eighteen he had entered the counting room of a mercantile house and had never got more than $10 a week. As for Alice, she was dependent on her father, who had a hard time to get on with a pitiful income of $1,000 a year. George and Alice were sensible and made up their minds that they must give each other up or be sure of a life of misery, for George was an orphan with no one to help him. George went out to the Treat home to spend Sunday and say goodby. The lovers had a harrowing time of it, for there is nothing more dreadful than one of these long goodbyes. On Monday morning George was obliged to go back to town to his desk, and Alice trumped up an excuse to go to the city and buy a few needles and pins and such things, which she needed to patch her worn-out clothes.

"George was to get off at the B street station, while Alice was to go on to the main depot. You know the tunnel is near the B street station, and the train pulls up just as it leaves the tunnel. George and Alice took advantage of the darkness to indulge in a long embrace. Passing an air hole, George thought it was the tunnel's end and, preferring that the other passengers should not witness the parting, got up and went to the door. But, seeing his mistake, he returned to finish the kiss.

"Without a word he sat down, put his arm around the figure beside him, drew her to him and kissed her. There was a shriek, and a few moments later the train shot out of the tunnel. George Spicer was sitting in a seat beside a strange woman. Alice sat directly behind.

"There was a racket and no mistake. Alice couldn't understand it. George saw that he had made an unfortunate mistake, and the woman kissed was furious. Casting a piteous appeal at Alice for suspension of sentence, George was hurrying to the door when the woman cried, 'Stop thief!' The passengers interposed between him and the door, and he was not suffered to leave the train till the woman had been satisfied of his identity and his address.

"Whether she really felt very much outraged or was in hope that she might bleed George, I don't know. Be that as it may, that afternoon a constable entered the counting room where he worked and arrested him for assault on complaint of Mary Stringfellow, widow. George was taken before a magistrate and held to answer to the charge under bail of $1,000. He could not raise $100 to save his life and was obliged to go to jail. The poor fellow was locked up, and it seemed as if the world had turned its back on him.

"The next morning the newspapers gave an account of his transgression and its result. As soon as Alice saw it she went to the jail to see him and was perfectly satisfied with his explanation. But the affair was a bad mixture. Since Alice and George were not engaged and didn't intend to be engaged, it wasn't pleasant for her to come forward and explain matters. George preferred to simply state that he had made a mistake and had intended to kiss some one else. The result was that he was sent up for a hundred days. He appealed from the decision of the court. His case did not come up until just before the expiration of his time, and then the higher court instead of reversing the decision added a hundred days to the sentence.

"During all this time the newspapers discussed the affair, the public being much interested. The case found its way into journals far and near, and when the unfortunate though ludicrous addition to the term of imprisonment was announced every newspaper in the land had something to say about it.

"The day before George's time was up a man came into the prison to see him. He had a newspaper in his hand, with an article announcing George's approaching discharge, and asked the prisoner if he was the George Spicer named. George admitted that he was, though he did so with fear and trembling lest some other charge was to be brought against him. Then the stranger asked a dozen or more questions about George's parentage and his childhood. Finally he announced that twenty years before George's father had died in the far west and left $10,000 in gold in trust for him. The trustees had been hunting for him ever since, and the money had grown to be about $100,000.

"Alice met George at the prison door the next day and was surprised at his radiant appearance. He said he was hungry and took her to a restaurant. Alice had been saving for that very purpose and had a dollar in her purse. But when they sat at table and George ordered a ten dollar dinner, besides a quart of champagne, she was frightened. Then he told her how the wind of his affairs had shifted."

"I don't believe that yarn," said the listener.

"That's what I told you. I wouldn't have believed it myself if I hadn't been George's lawyer."

tually have been enforced and that legislation has been enacted to increase the effectiveness of their enforcement. We do not have to oppose to "turn the rascals out", for we have shown in every deed that whenever by diligent investigation a public official can be found who has betrayed his trust he will be punished to the full extent of the law without regard to whether he was appointed under a Republican or Democratic administration.

Assuredly it is unwise to change the policies which have worked so well and which are now working so well. Prosperity has come at home. The national honor and interest have been upheld abroad. We have placed the finances of the nation upon a gold basis. We have done this with the aid of many who were formerly our opponents, but who would neither openly support nor silently acquiesce in the heresy of unsound finance; and we have done it against the convinced and violent opposition of the mass of our present opponents, who still refuse to recant the unsound opinions which for the moment they think it inexpedient to assert. We know what we mean when we speak of an honest and stable currency. We mean the same thing from year to year.

Under the financial legislation which we have enacted there is now ample circulation for every business need; and every dollar of this circulation is worth a dollar in gold. We have reduced the interest bearing debt and in still larger measure the interest on that debt. All of the war taxes imposed during the Spanish war have been removed with a view to relieve the people and to prevent the accumulation of an unnecessary surplus. The result is that hardly ever before have the expenditures and income of the government so closely corresponded. In the fiscal year that has just closed the excess of income over the ordinary expenditures was nine millions of dollars. This does not take account of the fifty millions expended out of the accumulated surplus for the purchase of the Isthmian canal. It is an extraordinary proof of the sound financial condition of the nation that instead of following the usual course in such matters and throwing the burden upon posterity by an issuance of bonds, we were able to make the payment outright and yet after it to have in the treasury a surplus of one hundred and sixty-one millions. Moreover, we were able to pay this fifty millions of dollars out of hand without causing the slightest disturbance to business conditions.

We have enacted a tariff law under which during the past few years the country has attained a height of material well-being never before reached. Wages are higher than ever before. That whenever the need arises there should be a readjustment of the tariff schedules is undoubted; but such changes can safely be made only those whose devotion to the principle of a protective tariff is beyond question; for otherwise the changes would amount not to readjustment but to repeal. The readjustment when made must maintain and not destroy the protective principle. To the farmer, the merchant, the manufacturer, this is vital; but perhaps no other man is so much interested as the wage-worker in the maintenance of our present economic system, both as regards the finances and the tariff. The standard of living of our wage-workers is higher than that of any other country, and it can not so remain unless we have a protective tariff which shall always keep as a minimum a rate of duty sufficient to cover the difference between the labor cost here and abroad.

We believe in reciprocity with foreign nations on the terms outlined in President McKinley's last speech, which urged the extension of our foreign markets by reciprocal agreements whenever they could be made without injury to American industry and labor.

We recognize the organization of capital and the organization of labor as natural outcomes of our industrial system. Each kind of organization is to be favored so long as it acts in a spirit of justice and of regard for the rights of others. Each is to be granted the full protection of the law, and each in turn is to be held to a strict obedience to the law; for no man is above it and no man below it. The humblest individual is to have his rights safeguarded as scrupulously as those of the strongest organization, for each is to receive justice, no more and no less.

The Isthmian Canal is now being built by the Government of the United States. We conduct the negotiations for its construction with the nicest and most scrupulous honor, and in a spirit of the largest generosity toward those through whose territory it was to run. Every sinister effort which could be devised by the spirit of faction or the spirit of self-interest was made in order to defeat the Treaty with Panama and thereby prevent the consummation of this work. The construction of the canal is now an assured fact; but most certainly it is unwise to entrust the carrying out of so momentous a policy to those who have endeavored to defeat the whole undertaking.

In the Caribbean Sea we have made good our promises of independence to Cuba, and have proved our assertion that our mission in the land was one of justice and not of self-aggrandizement; and thereby no less than by our action in Venezuela and Panama we have shown that the Monroe Doctrine is a living reality, designed for the hurt of no nation, but for the protection of civilization on the western continent, and for the peace of the world.

Our foothold in the Philippines greatly strengthens our position in the competition for the trade of the east; but we are governing the Philippines in the interest of the Philippine people themselves. We have already given them a large share in their government, and our purpose is to increase this share as rapidly as they give evidence of increasing fitness for the task. We have established in the islands a government by Americans assisted by Filipinos. We are steadily striving to transform this into self-government by the Filipinos assisted by Americans.

The principles which we uphold should appeal to all our countrymen, in all portions of our country. Above all they should give us strength with the men and women who are the spiritual heirs of those who uphold the hands of Abraham Lincoln; for we are striving to do our work in the spirit with which Lincoln approached his. During the seven years that have just passed there is no duty, domestic or foreign, which we have shirked; no necessary task which we have feared to undertake, or which we have not performed with reasonable efficiency. We have never pleaded impotence. We have never sought refuge in criticism and complaint instead of action. We face the future with our past and our present as guarantors of our promises; and we are content to stand or to fall by the record which we have made and are making.

FIRE DEPARTMENT WILL BE COMPLETE

Some of the Equipment Will Arrive Next Week.

Chief Woods Designs a New Method of Drying out Fire Hose.

MANY HORSES INSPECTED

Since the two new fire stations were built and the city has shown a disposition to increase the fire fighting facilities, Fire Chief Woods has been a willing worker to aid in the work and has adopted a very economical plan for drying hose, which has heretofore been done by aid of the immense tower in the rear of the Central Station house, which cost the city something like $700.

"I will shortly begin the work of building a new hose drier which will answer better than the tower we now use, and do far better work in less time," Chief Woods stated this morning. "I intend to build long boxes in which 1,000 feet of hose can be suspended parallel with the floor. These boxes will be built the length of one section of hose, which is laid in a wire frame separating the sections by several inches. One end of the box is supplied with hinges and can be opened while the other is supplied with a large buzz fan. The hose is laid in the box and the hinged end let down and the fan started. The air circulates through the hose inside and out and dries it much quicker, and with less work than the tower method. This prevents mildewed hose and the boxes will cost only about $25 each and one will be supplied for each station."

Chief Woods stated that all harness for the new station horses was ready for use and the stations ready for the apparatus. As to the latter, the latest information secured from the Seagrave people is that the apparatus will be shipped on the first of August. The delay was occasioned by a strike of coppermiths in Cleveland, where the company has its tanks made. The trucks have been finished for six weeks, but the tanks delayed the shipment of the apparatus.

Chief Woods says that as many as two dozen horses have been looked at and while some suit, the prices are too high. The owners want a small fortune for them because they think the city has to have them, but the city will not stand for gouging. He anticipates no trouble in buying the six horses necessary for the new stations in plenty of time.

"This week we will get in a lot of small equipment such as nozzles, couplings, etc.," Chief Woods stated, "and by the time the apparatus gets here will be fixed for everything. We will have a fire department, of which the city can justly feel proud."

The 2,000 feet of emergency hose ordered ten days ago will arrive the middle of next month, the manufacturers being given 30 days in which to fill the order. The city will not have to pay for it until next year.

CLOSE CALL

LOCOMOTIVE "RUNS THROUGH HERSELF" NEAR JACKSON.

Engineer Gus Gideon, of the N. C. & St. L. road, had a narrow escape from serious injury near Jackson, Tenn., yesterday afternoon. His engine was going at full speed, when the side rod broke. The end hit the bottom of the cab, stunned the engineer and shattered the glass of the cab windows, which flew in his face. He had presence of mind enough to stop the engine and escaped serious injury. His face is bruised and his back slightly injured, but he will be able to be out soon.

He was brought to his home, in this city, at 813 South Fourth street last night, and Dr. Frank Boyd and Dr. Hearne attended him.

So far no policemen have announced ready to take vacation, and as much as can be learned, they expect to take the week off the latter part of August or during September. Some little trouble is anticipated in the selection of vacations as several officers may want to get off about the same time. Each will agree on the week he wants and as no more than two at a time can be let off they will have to select it among themselves.
